Among other things, Craig was introduced to a new sound, he declared. As we were unloading the things from the car about nightfall after our arrival at the ranch we heard a peculiar "croak" from up the mountainside. He said no sensible bullfrog would be up the side of the mountain. When informed the sound was from a "mountain boomer" lizard, he rubbed his balding head and said it was his first such sound.

Craig said the blooming mountain laurel, redbud, box elders, wild plum and buckeye, along with the wild flowers, were beautiful.

"Only thing I can't understand about it all, Jones, is why you are up here with a newspaper, and that beautiful ranch is going to

The small daughter watched her mother soberly while she marked her ballot at the polls, then remarked, "You voted for the man you love best, didn't you, mother?"

APRIL FOOL'S DAY came to Hamlin community and left without much stir. Of course, the school kids had their part of fun with the time-honored celebration at school.

When you play some prank on April Fool's Day you will be following a custom that goes back over 375 years; so far, in fact,

In 1564, the tenants of France celebrated a gala day on April 1, playing tricks and doing foolish things. They were happy because they had won an important court decision over the land-owners of the country. This was the start of April Fool's Day.

There have been many famous April Fool pranks, but probably none which lasted longer than one which is still an annual event in a small town in Maine. In this town is a hotel patronized by traveling salesmen and business men. During the winter, a large storm vestibule is placed on the front veranda, protecting the main entrance to the hotel.

Early on the mroning of April 1 this storm porch is moved to one side, so that it leads to a blank wall. On the wall is hung a sign reading, "April Fool!" People hurry up the walk, open the door of the storm porch and find themselves in a blind alley, face to face with the April Fool sign.

Their bewilderment is complete because the real entrance cannot be seen from the walk, and it has apparently vanished.

This trick was played 40 years ago by the owner of the hotel, and s still played every year. It seems o be just as successful as ever,

AN ANSON MAN, a fidgety little fellow who was attending a Hamlin theater the other eyening, was searching on the floor beneath the theater seat. Finally the woman next to him exclaimed:

BETTER GOVERNMENT BILLS GAINING STATURE

An open door to full reporting of precinct, | county and state political conventions is one i the "better government" bills, proposed by the Texas Press Association, to land in the egislative hopper, thanks to Senator Ottis E. Lock of Lufkin and Representative Howard Green of Fort Worth.

The necessity for legislation of this type was pointed up when reporters were ousted from pritical conventions to the recent elections. At that time it took action on the part of the attorney general to give reporters a "pass" this igh convention doors.

This bill will specifically designate the right of members of the press to attend and cover pelitical conventions

Lulkin's S, ator Lock said flatly, "News ropariers, as well as representations of other news media should have the + 7 to attend all political conventions, and for that reason Senate Bill 04 should be passed.

Serving his first term in the Legislature, "e. resentative Green shows his stand on antireceived meetings when he says, "All gathermy, in the public interest should be open to "le press!"

Senator Lock's bill has bene approved by the state affairs committee of the Senate, and now is on the Senate calendar.

In another move for better government, Representative Walter C. Schwartz of Brenham as introduced HB 491, which provides for a special audit of county records.

In recent history a sharp reminder of the need for this legislation is Duval County, which had not had an audit of county records for 40 years. This bill would provide for a special audit if as many as 30 per cent of the qualified voters of the county petitioned the dis' ict judge to order such an audit.

Representative Schwartz says, "Whether a situation calling for a special audit has ever risen in your county or not, it behooves us all who are interested in good government to work for the passage of this bill."

He added, "I can't imagine anyone not being able to see the urgency of legislation of this type. Texans everywhere have been embarrassed by the world-wide publicity accorded the infamous situation in South Texas. Surely we will all work to make this bill into law. It would help prevent similar situations elsewhere in Texas.

Representative Don Kennard of Fort Worth which looks promising. has introduced another "better government" bill advocated by TPA. Known as HB 164, this bill calls for public officials to make the records of their offices open to the public.

Also introduced are two bills designed to protect the public from insurance frauds, such as have occurred in the recent past. One is HB 156, requiring insurance companies to publish financial statements for the enlightenment of prospective purchasers as well as policy holders. The other is HB 157, providing a penalty for false information given by insurance companies. The companion bills are in the hands of Representative Jack Welch of decline in last year's yield.

Only three of the 15 bills proposed by TPA require public notice. A fourth one merely strengthens existing publication laws, and the remaining 11 bills relate to investigations, court actions and false testimony. All 15 are in the interest of better government.

Taxes That Hurt

The taxes are indeed very heavy, and it those laid on by the government were the only ones we had to pay, we might more easily discharge them; but we have many others, and much more grievous to some of us.

We are taxed twice as much by our idleness, three times as much by our pride, and four times as much by our folly. And from these taxes the commissioners can not ease or deliver us.-Poor Richard's Almanac

Family Life Versus TV

How is television affecting your family life? To take stock, Mrs. Eloise Johnson, extension family life specialist, suggests a family conference on the matter, . . . Consider the amount of reading being done by each family member, the quality of school work done by the children, the play and sleep habits of the family, and the amount of time the family spends talking together.

The U.S. Children's Bureau lists six ways that you can use television to help the members of your family:

Study the program that your children like best and notice how they react to them. There may be clues to emotional needs that parents can help fill, such as more new experiences in actual life and more active normal friend-

Share the programs with your older children. Discuss the stories and help them realize the difference between phoney and real-life sit-

Guard against radio and television as a child's only outlet for natural impulses for aggressiveness.

Notice if your children seem to fall back on TV because there is nothing better to do. Encourage children to choose programs that sharpen their curiosity about important things such as science, travel and the lives of worth while people. Use television to bring your family close together. When members must choose pro grams, share some and give up some, they

Your Biggest Investment

The biggest investment the typical American family ever makes is its home. Intelligent home-owners try to protect that investment. They maintain and improve the property. They insure it against hazards, of which fire is paramount. But many a home-owner has Hamlin in voting Saturday. Hamfound, after calamity struck, that he hadn't adequately protected his investment at alland that his insurance was nowhere near sufficient to make up for the loss.

The reason is simple. The cost of home construction—and of other kinds of structures -has just about doubled since 1945. The cost of furniture, clothing and dinnerware, found in every home, has more than doubled. The cost of washing and sewing machines has nearly doubled. So it goes, down the list—and the price trend is still upward.

What can the householder do to protect himself against possibly calamitous loss? This is simple, too. First of all, he should make an inventory of all the property in his house that might be destroyed by fire or windstorm or some other insurable disaster-not forgetting the "little things" like books and pillows and curtains and bedding, whose total worth to 223 count. runs to surprisingly large amounts. Second, he should see his local insurance agent and that is being erected at the corner make sure that both his house and its contents are insured in line with the values of todaynot the obsolete values of yesterday.

Austin .- After five weeks of headline making, three legislative investigating committees still are

Recent additions to the committees' massive records:

1. Several former ICT directors denied having signed a document wiping out a $900,000 debt owed ICT by Jack Cage & Company. Shown a photostat of such a document, they said it was not the instrument they signed.

2. Leaders in the Texas Federation of Labor called Ben Jack Cage, former manager of ICT, a "scoundrel." Union members had invested millions in the company.

3. A number of union members and officials told how they were paid by Cage to help advance the cause of ICT among labor members. One said he thought he was paid to keep to himself his belief that Cage was a "crook." 4. Max Wayne Rychlik, son-inlaw of former Insurance Commission Chairman Garland Smith, remembered an additional $9,800 he had received from a Ben Jack Cage affiliate. It made a total of $18,200 paid Rychlik for his "job"

5. House members investigating bribery charges questioned the former executive secretary of the Naturopathic Association. But Albert D. Brown, who was with the organization back in 1955, could give only estimates and guesses on how TNA had spent some $20,000 raised during the last session for "legislative educa-

6. John McCully, labor union employee, had a difficult time accounting for his expenditures of union funds. In his operation of the union's publicity office, the action agency in Austin, he "accidentally" dropped a few political advertising bills into ICT files.

Big Push.

Legislators face a killing pace for the next few weeks if they are to finish the session in 120 days. After that point, their pay ceases. Time is almost two-thirds gone. Multiple investigations have diverted a lot of time and energy. Important bills are stacked up.

But a major milestone-passage of the general appropriations billis in sight. Senate committee approved it for floor action this week. House already has passed

Senate committee's version differs slightly. It includes a 10 per cent raise for lower bracket state employees, 15 per cent for college

Wrapping up the big money bill will put the session over the hump in the minds of most members. Meanwhile both houses are hacking at the small stuff. Special sessions have turned out local and uncontested bills at the rate of one a minute.

Code of Ethics.

Scandals and investigations put new impetus behind the administration backed drive for a code of ethics and lobby registration act. But It hasn't made the subject much easier to agree on that in previous sessions. Objectors have ing schools at Gatesville, Gainesclaimed it isn't possible to pass a law making people honest.

House, nevertheless, passed bill to the third reading. It would require registration of persons paid to appear before state agencies. Officials would be prohibited from using their public office for private gain, accepting gifts, favors or services that might influence official action, etc.

He asked and was granted more time to prepare the case before the commission.

Depositors Denied Preference.

U. S. Trust & Guaranty Company cerditors will have to "share and share alike."

At least that is the decision of Austin District Judge Charles O. eral contended the company's advertising, by Drew Pearson, led them to believe their funds were being held "in trust."

U. S. Trust went bankrupt more than a year ago. Assets salvaged by the liquidator total a little more than $2,000,000. Claims against it add up to nearly $7,000,000

Distribution of these assets may be held up further if despositors decide to appeal.

Litilities Contest.

Water Bills Move.

Piece by piece, the mammoth water conservation program is noving forward.

Key feature, the $200,000,000 bond program to help finance local conservation projects, went to a int conference committee for fi nal adjustments

Senate committee gave approval to the next big item, anothe. $200,000,000 bond issue. This would be used to buy water storage space in federal dams. Committee also approved a bill which would allow use of public storm and flood waters to recharge underground reservoirs.

Said he did not realize that the mountains were as high as they are, and could hardly realize that, although our ranch is 275 miles south of here, it is 1,200 feet higher than Hamlin.

Among other things, Craig was introduced to a new sound, he declared. As we were unloading the things from the car about nightfall after our arrival at the ranch we heard a peculiar "croak" from up the mountainside. He said no sensible bullfrog would be up the side of the mountain. When informed the sound was from a "mountain boomer" lizard, he rubbed his balding head and said it was his first such sound.

Craig said the blooming mountain laurel, redbud, box elders, wild plum and buckeye, along with the wild flowers, were beautiful.

"Only thing I can't understand about it all, Jones, is why you are up here with a newspaper, and that beautiful ranch is going to

APRIL FOOL'S DAY came to Hamlin community and left without much stir. Of course, the school kids had their part of fun with the time-honored celebration at school.

When you play some prank on April Fool's Day you will be following a custom that goes back over 375 years; so far, in fact, that its true origin is uncertain.

In 1564, the tenants of France celebrated a gala day on April 1, playing tricks and doing foolish man. things. They were happy because they had won an important court decision over the land-owners of the country. This was the start of April Fool's Day.

There have been many famous April Fool pranks, but probably none which lasted longer than one which is still an annual event in a small town in Maine. In this town is a hotel patronized by traveling salesmen and business men. During the winter, a large storm vestibule is placed on the front veranda, protecting the main entrance to the hotel.

Early on the mroning of April 1 this storm porch is moved to one side, so that it leads to a blank wall. On the wall is hung a sign reading, "April Fool!" People hurry up the walk, open the door of the storm porch and find themselves in a blind alley, face to face with the April Fool sign.

Their bewilderment is complete because the real entrance cannot be seen from the walk, and it has apparently vanished.

This trick was played 40 years ago by the owner of the hotel, and 's still played every year. It seems o be just as successful as ever.

AN ANSON MAN, a fidgety little fellow who was attending a Hamlin theater the other evening, was searching on the floor beneath the theater seat. Finally the woman next to him exclaimed: "What in the world is the mat-county and state political conventions is one if the "better government" bills, proposed by the Texas Press Association, to land in the legislative hopper, thanks to Senator Ottis E. Lock of Lufkin and Representative Howard Green of Fort Worth.

BETTER GOVERNMENT BILLS GAINING STATURE

The necessity for legislation of this type was pointed up when reporters were ousted from pritical convenient ! . . recent elections. At that time it took action on the part of the attorney general to give reporters a "pass"

An open door to full reporting of precinct, | special audit if as many as 30 per cent of the qualified voters of the county petitioned the distict judge to order such an audit.

> Representative Schwartz says, "Whether a situation calling for a special audit has ever risen in your county or not, it behooves us all who are interested in good government to work for the passage of this bill."

He added, "I can't imagine anyone not being able to see the urgency of legislation of this type. Texans everywhere have been embarrassed by the world-wide publicity accorded the infamous situation in South Texas. Surely we will all work to make this bill into law. It would help prevent similar situations elsewhere in Texas.

Representative Don Kennard of Fort Worth has introduced another "better government" bill advocated by TPA. Known as HB 164, this bill calls for public officials to make the records of their offices open to the public.

Also introduced are two bills designed to protect the public from insurance frauds, such as have occurred in the recent past. One is HB 156, requiring insurance companies to publish financial statements for the enlightenment of prospective purchasers as well as policy holders. The other is HB 157, providing a penalty for false information given by insurance companies. The companion bills are in the hands of Representative Jack Welch of decline in last year's yield.

Only three of the 15 bills proposed by TPA require public notice. A fourth one merely strengthens existing publication laws, and the remaining 11 bills relate to investigations, court actions and false testimony. All 15 are in the interest of better government.

Your Biggest Investment

The biggest investment the typical American family ever makes is its home. Intelligent home-owners try to protect that investment. They maintain and improve the property. They | Council. insure it against hazards, of which fire is paramount. But many a home-owner has Hamlin in voting Saturday. Hamfound, after calamity struck, that he hadn't adequately protected his investment at alland that his insurance was nowhere near sufficient to make up for the loss.

The reason is simple. The cost of home construction—and of other kinds of structures -has just about doubled since 1945. The cost of furniture, clothing and dinnerware, found in every home, has more than doubled. The cost of washing and sewing machines has nearly doubled. So it goes, down the list—and the price trend is still upward.

What can the householder do to protect himself against possibly calamitous loss? This is simple, too. First of all, he should make an inventory of all the property in his house that might be destroyed by fire or windstorm or some other insurable disaster-not forgetting the "little things" like books and pillows and curtains and bedding, whose total worth runs to surprisingly large amounts. Second, he should see his local insurance agent and make sure that both his house and its contents are insured in line with the values of todaynot the obsolete values of yesterday.
